

See Yetter Farm Equipment in Action

Yetter Farm Equipment's farm show season is in full swing. Take advantage of the many opportunities to see the industry-leading company's extensive line of profitable solutions for your operation. Upcoming shows will feature the latest equipment, including the 2940 Air Adjust Residue Manager and 5000 Stalk Devastator.

"Farm shows are a great opportunity for producers who own or are interested in Yetter products to come see the latest and greatest," said Scott Cale, Yetter Territory Manager. "And if you are considering Yetter for the first time, even better—our sales representatives are on hand to help you choose the best Yetter solution for your unique challenge and to show you how our products can save you time and money." After the show, visitors with further questions are invited to call Yetter at 800-447-5777.

The next opportunity to join Yetter will be at the 44th Annual Gateway Farm Expo in Kearney, Nebraska, on November 20 and 21, 2013. This show features a free BBQ lunch for visitors. Yetter products will be on display at the farm show west of the Mississippi River, the Nebraska Power Farming Show, December 10-12 in Lincoln, Nebraska. Yetter will also be at the Indiana-Illinois Farm show in December. At the beginning of the year they will attend the Fort Wayne Farm Show in Indiana, and as always, you can count on Yetter Farm Equipment to be on hand at the largest indoor farm show, the 2014 National Farm Machinery Show in February in Louisville, Kentucky.

For a complete list of shows Yetter will be attending, scan this code with your smartphone or log on to www.yetterco.com/events.

Yetter has an extensive lineup of products, all of which cannot fit in a single show display. If there you are interested something you don't see at the show, the show staff will gladly discuss any of Yetter Farm Equipment's products with you.

If you are unable to make a show but are interested in learning more about Yetter products, the 2014 Product Catalog will be available in late November. To request a catalog, call 800-447-5777. And you can always find Yetter products online at www.yetterco.com/products.

Yetter sets up booths at farm shows around the country from October through March each year.
